Time plays a very important part in all of our lives . . . the alarm that wakes us up, the bell for the start of first period, the bell for that magical bewitching hour of 2:00 P.M. (Especially on Fridays), due dates for papers, and of course, June 13, 1980.

Each season has its role in our academic and social lives, determining the sports that are played, the entertainment and activities attended, and our moods. Each new season has its special quality; Summer, a break from school; Fall, the start of a new year at Washington-Lee; Winter, the coming of snow and the end of a semester; and Spring, the end of school and the end of a way of life for many of us.

What will the eighties be like? If this year was any indication, it will be full of new ideas, concepts, and lifestyles. A yearbook is designed with the idea of being used as an instrument to call back the past, to help relive the good times and the bad, and to put down on paper the things that are clear in our minds today but may be forgotten tomorrow.

The main objective of the 1980 issue of the Blue and Gray: To portray the end of the 1970's and the beginning of the 8th decade of the 20th century. We are the first generation of the eighties, and it is up to us to set the mood for what is to come.

Top Left: Linda Oddenino and Marissa Moore sit in the ever-present rain at a football game. Top Right: Mr. Harocopos sits with his two children at Homecoming. Middle: What happened to the Band? Actually, some questions are better left unasked. Bottom Left: Charlie Taylor watches the game anxiously. Bottom Right: Pheobe Vernier and James Darby look slightly drenched.

BALLOONS & BUBBLES

SOAP OPERA

Top Left: Terry O'Neill seeks vengeance on John Carbone for some unknown reason. Middle Left: Ann Neet uses elbow grease to bring life and luster to a VW jalopy. Middle Center: In a calmer moment, Ruth Yamamoto fills Pat Conklin's Bucket. Middle Right: Karen Cadwallader looks like she's bubbling over with joy. Bottom Left: Allyson Jones and Beverly Vail guard (?) munchies at the bakesale. Bottom Center: Matt Blanco gets it. Bottom Right: Jamie Amico ducks as Ruth Yamamoto runs rampant with the hose.

SUMMER

Top Right: Maria Covarrubias peers into the microscope while her partner records the results. Top Left: Homecoming Queen Pheobe Vernier, and her Consort Jamie Amico, smile at their subjects. Middle Left: One of those famous math parties. Middle Center: Dede Dodson helps out in the office. Middle Left: Mark McLaughlin unsuccessfully tries to hide his soda from the knowing Mrs. Filpi. Bottom Left: Bruce Britton can't resist giving Bob Weatherwax antennae. Bottom Right: It's Roll'em for Pat Jones and Thomas Rettie.

THOSE ROWDY SENIORS

What other than the class of 1980 would have the audacity to create a Pro-Seniors club? What other class would have thought of bubbles instead of confetti at pep-rallies? Although we had few established "senior privileges", we made our own: hats on Fridays, ties and other get-ups, dinner parties during lunch in the commons . . . we no longer cared if anyone thought that we were strange. In fact, it was fun to see the underclassmen stare at us as if we were weird . . . but then perhaps we were. Only after we became seniors did we realize the true meaning of "senior slump". That "I don't give a *&%!®!!!" feeling that came over all of us — even before two weeks of school were finished. As Jane Ingrassla put it: "I can justify a slump in work because I'm a SENIOR!"

At the end of our Senior year, we are starting our long look back at the many memories that were made at Washington-Lee.

We came as sophomores, to find that freshmen would soon hold our high honor of being the youngest class at W-L. Our 10th grade year was one for leaving our junior high friends and molding into the mainstream of Senior High life. We began to join clubs and sports and even found how easy skipping could be. We voiced our opinions during the Christmas controversy and watched I-66 tear away our back yard.

We left and returned as juniors to find a stricter attendance policy, homework, PSAT's, SAT's, and more homework waiting for us. We weren't bothered, though, as we attended football games, parties and looked around for our magical 80th turn on our class rings. Most left for the summer with the excitement of being a senior when returning to W-L.

Finally the big Senior year and all of its "privileges" came. We elected the homecoming King and Queen, won the float contest, held the annual Christmas Bazaar, were fitted for caps and gowns, found our class ranks, and before we knew it we were filling out our college applications and thinking about the prom.

To many, our Senior year went by much too quickly, for others, "Senior slump" started their first week of school. Which ever occurred, most will agree that when high school memories are turned over, their Senior year will be remembered most fondly.

As the graduating class of a new decade, we are the generation of the future that will run our nation. We are special, and our special memories will not be forgotten. Most will leave Arlington and their families and begin a new life. We are the class of 1980 leaving W-L to make our futures come true.

Just a short decade ago we were beginning our long school education. Elementary school memories include trick or treating, kooties and recess. Was it only ten years ago? Back then most of us never dreamed we'd make it this far. Remember thinking how big the 6th graders were, or even the 9th graders? Now think how we look at them. But as Seniors we are wondering whether to go to college, or straight to work. What about 1990? What will you be doing? What will your friends be doing? Who will make it to a reunion? Will anyone become famous? How many will be married? After very serious consideration we decided to predict a few of our classmates' 10 year future. Above: Anastasia Bouras isn't quite sure what Ruth Yamamoto will be doing in 10 years.

One of the big events of the '79-'80 school year was the resurfacing of the W-L parking lot. As seen in the pictures above, the new parking lot is greatly used. A variety of vehicles can be seen parked here throughout the day, from sports cars to vans. However, along with the new parking lot comes stricter rules. The failure to comply with these rules, such as having a parking sticker on the car, can result in being ticketed or towed away.

It would be impossible to list all of the fads which have come and gone in the last decade. While some have appeared and disappeared quickly, others have survived the whims of our generation. Ten years ago, dress codes were enforced very strictly. It was the era when dresses were becoming shorter and jeans were becoming more prevalent. Assistant principals could be seen walking through the halls with yardsticks to measure the length of a dress. If it did not comply with their low standards, they were sent home. Today, freedom of expression is given to the individual. Although some outfits are frowned upon more than others, no one is sent home because of what he or she chooses to wear. W-L students show their expression: Kim Edwards in Government, Chrissie Umbel "dresses up," Captain Clash (Brian Ruffner), and that tall, dark, handsome stranger and best dressed male, John Carbone.

Big Questions: Your Future?

The Guidance Office is a key department in W-L. If you have any schedule or career problems, counselors are there to help you. The material and information which they provide is relied upon by many students.

A Quiet Place?

You will never hear that old pin drop in the library, but you might hear the latest gossip. Even though the talking is often the main attraction of the library, the librarians try to provide a center where both teachers and students can develop their library and reference skills.

Lititia Lam, Bernice Williams, Blanche Mays, and Margaret Mulcahy.

The Librarians

Can you fix it? In Shop, Yes

The challenge of repairing an engine or designing and constructing your own project is what shop is all about. Students are taught how to use different types of tools and the safety procedures which they demand.

Paul Harding, Burns Paras and Joseph Kuhn.

An Experience?

The Distributive Education Department covers a wide variety of service occupations. One can learn about the free enterprise system and become aware of jobs in marketing and distribution through Mrs. Jan Duley and Mr. Boyd Hargraves.

To Jog or to Swim?

Jogging a mile and a half may not be what you consider fun, but physical education is a requirement and that happens to be one of the activities. Students are involved in other activities such as archery, swimming and tennis.

First Row: Betty Eads, Roger Coggins, Mary Causey. Second Row: Del Norwood, Berry Smith, Jack Walker and Dick Mitchell, Left: Barbara Reinwald.

The P.E. Teachers

Science Department

The variety of courses offered by the Science Department entices many students to enroll in these classes. Biology, physics, and chemistry teach students about the world around them. Though the Science Department only offers one required course, biology, many students take science courses as electives.

Social Studies

This year's Social Studies Department provided a variety of courses which span America's past, present, and future. Trips to Williamsburg and the chance to attend a mock trial helped to keep Social Studies interesting.

Bottom: Wayne Bloomingburg, Tom Knott, Simon Karczowski, Thomas Post, John Englishman, Cora May Seeley, Stan Book, Tim Wyatt, Maurice Levin, Guy Cavallo. Right: John Smith.

Art Department

To look at the world through rose-colored glasses, the Art Department shows students how to find the beauty and diversity of colors and how to capture that beauty on film.

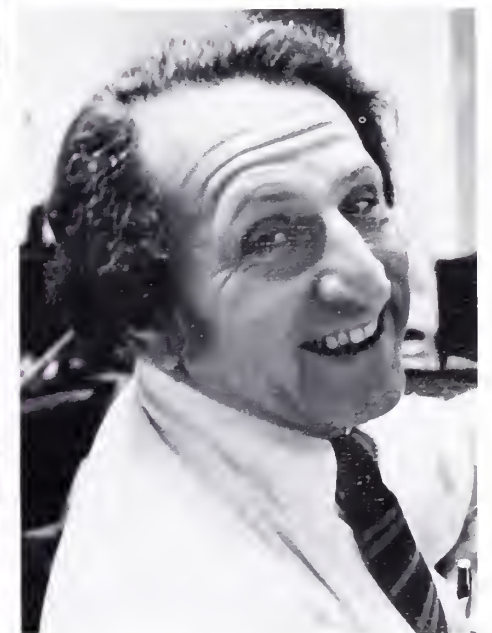

Leroy Anderson and Jeanne Gilman.

Home Economics

For the future home-makers of America, Home Economics teaches students how to cook, and to sew, and to care for children. Many students take these courses to prepare for their lives running the household and providing themselves with meals that are nutritious.

Beulah Anderson.

Music Department

The world comes to life with the sound of music and the teachers in the Music Department certainly make music come to life for their students. This department offers Band, Choir, Orchestra, and Madrigals for our musically talented students and beautiful music for the rest of the student body's pleasure.

Pat "Hoppy" Hopkins and Carlotta Parr. Top: Harvey Krasney.

It's more than Knowing The Language!

The thrilling possibility of actually visiting a foreign country and speaking with the natives there is enhanced and made possible through the various languages offered here at W-L. Trips to the actual country whose language one is studying and field trips which bring alive the customs and history of that country, only a part of the learning process, are offered to all language students.

English Emphasise Is On Learning

Vocabulary, vocabulary and more vocabulary!!! That seems to be the big emphasis in the English Department! That, along with world literature, American literature and grammar, make-up a major part of the programmed studies for ninth through twelfth grade English classes. The real learning comes from those teachers who add something to this curriculum to make the hour of English class seem not so long . . .

Mathematics Sums Everything Up

The Mathematics Department is one of the largest sections at Washington-Lee. Although only one unit of math is required to graduate, most students choose to take more. The math section consists of math classes from General Math to Calculus. There are many contests available for math students to participate in, possibly making them eligible for college scholarships. Therefore, math can be a very rewarding subject, if taken seriously.

Special Ed. Offers Help

The Special Education section is one of the smaller sections at Washington-Lee. Though smaller, it is of no less importance. This section is specially designed to help those students with slower learning capability. The Special Education program is open to any students who feel that they cannot work at the required level of the subject class in question. The untimely death of Mrs. Ratik of this department was felt by students and fellow workers, alike.

Dear Seniors,
Graduation from high school is both an ending and a beginning. You are ending your basic education and beginning the pursuit of your dreams. The thirst you now possess for life can only be quenched by the desire to learn and by the desire to understand what is learned. Some of you will continue your formal education and some will not. Regardless, you will all continue to learn and grow and with that learning and growing you will become the leaders of tomorrow. In the very near future we will be looking to you to provide the direction for us. I am sure you will meet this challenge with intelligence and compassion. Best wishes to all of you.

LIGHTER SIDE OF

At the end of each year, when the Blue and Gray is distributed, do you realize that your toughest teacher has a really nice smile? The possibility of a future friendship, not as teacher to student, but as adult to adult, is a pleasing prospect. For seniors, teachers play a special part in their futures, giving them the knowledge and the recommendations needed to get into the inevitable "College of your Choice". Have you ever cursed the yearbook for not portraying teachers as they really are? Have you ever had the urge to draw a mustache on your "favorite" teacher? The following pages are designed to show the lighter side of the W-L faculty — the side we see in those rare moments when studies are put aside and party begins . . . This page (Clockwise from Upper Left): Jim Mon, John Swife (alias Capt. Arthur), Tom Kenefake, Cora May Seeley. Opposite page (Clockwise from Upper Left): Sally Bassler, Fran Imbrescia, Anastasia Bouras and Gerri Filpi, Candy Frankel, Marie Baker, Alan Yurkshat, Ailenda Mangan.

Thank God It's Friday is not only for kids . . . you can be sure the teachers feel the same way! And who needs that weekend more than the dedicated faculty of Washington-Lee?!! (Why the students, of course . . .) Everyone approaches the weekend with amazement — another week gone!! Or, more optimistically, there are plenty more weeks ahead . . .

T.G.I.F!

WHY DO THEY KEEP

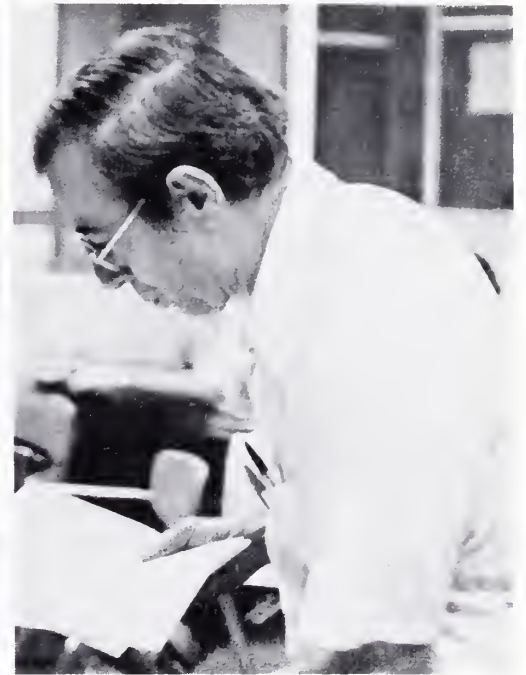

Why, indeed, do they keep coming back? What is it about the teaching profession that lures these strange birds back from their summer migration? It could be that the kids are the ones who keep them so firmly nested, but it isn't likely. Neither could the pay justify such devotion. It's most probably a hope that keeps them faithful, a hope that the next class of students will have an Einstein in it, or a Poe. Maybe it's a false hope, but then anything is possible when you're young in heart and a good aim with an eraser . . .

COMING BACK ??!

FALL

Whether you like it or not . . .

Our second year at W-L proved to be one filled with excitement and hard work. As a class we participated in events ranging from the magazine drive to the Christmas Bazaar. The Class of '81 generated a lot of enthusiasm, which was one of the things that helped to make this year great. Throughout the year, the Junior Class strived to be the best. Overall, this year was one to never be forgotten. At right: Carl Swisher, in his Pierre Cardin suit, takes time out from his busy year to pose for a picture.

TO WIN HOMECOMING PEP RALLY

The Junior Class this year was an extremely spirited one, which was evident at the Homecoming Pep Rally. Our Junior Class officers' pom pom sales appeared to be the key to success. When it came time for the Juniors to display their spirit, the entire side of the gym was transformed into a screaming mass of blue and white pom poms.

Homecoming

Spirit was at an all-time high by the time game day rolled around. Pep Club members like Ann Kuehn packed the football lockers full. The juniors were busy passing out those "DUMB little pom-poms" (a popular senior definition) that won them the Homecoming Pep Rally. Above Right: The Seniors offered tough competition though, with "Beat the Sheet Out of Stuart". Top left, First Row: Karen Cadwallader (Vice Pres.), Ann Kuhn (Tres.), Cindy Fang (Sec.), Pat Conklin (Pres.), Second Row: Lisa Peregory, Vickey Robinson, Teri Beckman, Helen Mobley, Pam Scotti, Ginger Revercomb, Jennifer Heon, Patty Chumacero, Lynn Hull, Meg Atkinson, Third Row: Diane Waters, Karen Kinert, Ann Naccarato, Annette Baker,

The Pep Club was again active this year supporting the school's athletic teams. During football season the girls put forth much time, effort, and money every week to get all the football player's lockers decorated. They supported the team by wearing the boys' jerseys on homecoming. The members also decorated the locker room for homecoming and the last game. Their spirit shined throughout wrestling and basketball season with even more decorated locker rooms. The tremendous spirit displayed by the Pep Club boosted school morale and encouraged the teams.

Washington-Lee Majorettes

With a small number of girls on the squad, the Drill Team was able to concentrate on unity and precision. Employing straight drill, dance, and pom-pon routines, they received many compliments for their fine performances at football and basketball games. These devoted girls added greatly to school spirit with their enthusiasm and long hours of practice. This year the team was newly sponsored by Mrs. Candy Frankel and choreographed by Patty Hands, and really looking up.

Getting It Together

Picture 1: Teammates Maurice Ramirez and Chuck Anderson in a stiff race against time.

1. Karen Brown waits in anticipation for the upcoming race. 2. Nils Lindenblad leads teammates Maurice Ramirez and Chris Olsen on to victory.

WINTER

Although the Class of '80 was consumed by the deadly "senior slump," they were able to cremate the teachers in the Donkey Basketball Game. The students proved to themselves that even the extreme pressures (commonly referred to as the teachers) placed upon them could not endure their revived spirit.

Classical Boredom

Leo Tiglao does his best under pressure.

Robert Schupp relaxes his mind.

Bruce Britton is engrossed by his book.

Tom Lecky seriously debates his future.

Doina Chiacu and Jamie Rund alertly await service.

Whips the Jackasses!

Mr. Imbrescia points to his destiny.

M.C. Doherty imitates the donkeys. Jay Dominick and Allyson Jones have mixed reactions.

A perfect match? Brian Blados and his donkey.

Christopher North is another Doctor Do Little.

Betsy Blaylock rules over Mr. Pond.

How would you like to be in Mr. Crawley's place?

GIVE US MORE BLOOD!

Is this a vampire's paradise or is this the Red Cross Bloodmobile back again to take more of our blood? Well, it is the bloodmobile and it was a very popular place to go on Dec. 10. The Bloodmobile was very successful this year and it collected over 100 pints of blood from W-L, alone. Top Right: Tucker Echols seems to be suffering from a loss of blood. Top Left: Brian Ruffner and Bill Eyster don't mind giving blood. Center Right: Jeremy Radosh wonders if there is any blood there. Bottom Right: Phoebe Vernier is helped by an escort to the snack table. Bottom Left: Mike Uhlman thinks, "Maybe I would rather be back in class, than here!"

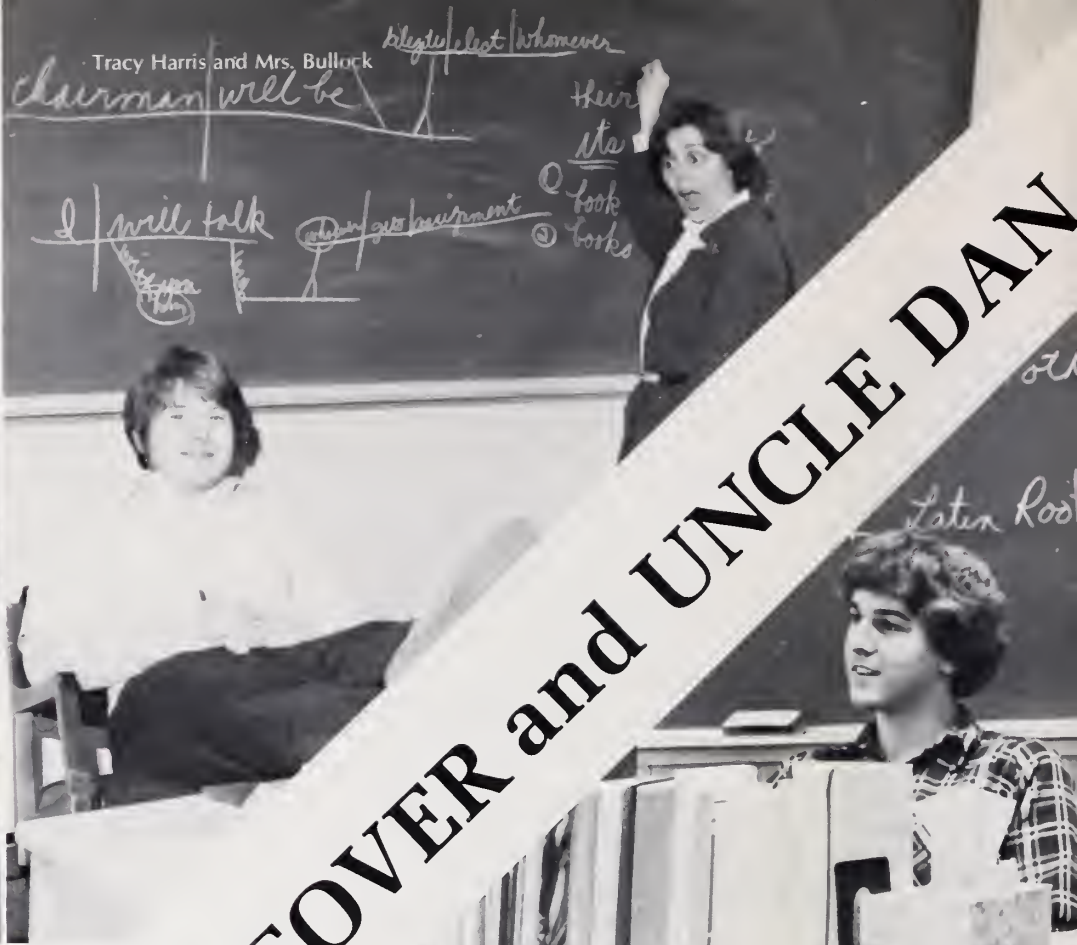

The Christmas Bazaar Makes the Spirit Bright

Into their second year at Washington-Lee, the Sophomore Class felt that this year was a definite improvement over last. They attributed this to the fact that the class was more adapted to W-L and closer bonds had grown between class members. This Page, Bottom Left: Could Nick Papadopoulos agree??

Lively spirits and high values were outstanding characteristics of the Sophomore Class. During homecoming, sophomore enthusiasm was used productively, and with a "going out and getting it" attitude the class won first place in a spirit chain contest. (Clockwise) with Sandy Bullocks' help the Class of '82 won a proud second place in the float contest. The float's theme was "Raid the Raiders!" After a lively pep rally, Marshal Hawkins showed his own kind of spirit. Then, the sophomore girls climbed high into a pyramid to show the height of their enthusiasm.

Athletics really seem to appeal to sophomores. In football and soccer, as well as other sports, sophomore guys and girls got to show off their talents, some even on the varsity teams. This Page: Karen Troutman really swings into action. Watching, faithful manager Kevin Goodnough serves his team. Opposite Page, Top Left: Ramone Paredes puts his best footwork into motion. Top Right: On another field, Gerald Jackson is one to watch the practice. Center Right: Mark Moffett and Steve Elfers watch their team anxiously.

This year's sophomores, like those of every other, have to go through biology. "UGH" is a commonly heard expression used about this class, yet Sara Kole and Lisa Kuhn (left) don't seem to agree.

Experimental labs are done throughout the year, some with the class (right, clockwise), and others individually, as Kevin Trainum prepares his slide. Can you believe that seeing things through a microscope can be a unique experience? Well, Kelly Phippen and Jamie O'Leary seem to think so. However, Rick Hampel wants to believe that it's time for the class to end.

The '82 class officers really got it together this year. Their efforts were united to get funds rolling in, and in they came, with fund raisers such as dances, calendar sales, and booster buttons, among others. With all that monetary know-how we can't go wrong. (Clockwise: Mark Magee, Class Secretary, thought he was too good to be in the group picture, therefore they took it without him. Anna Pahno, Senator; Mike Doherty, Senator; Cliff Dorman, President; Scott Sowers, School Board Representative; Beth Montgomery, Vice-President; and Sara Kole, Treasurer. Scott Sowers seems to be trying to convince his Mr. Pibb to come up with an idea.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Blue and Gray Yearbook Staff of 1979-80 . . .

The Blue and Gray staff of 1979-1980 was again successful in bringing about the publication of the annual yearbook. The class was divided into small groups, each one responsible for completing a different section of the book. Each division worked hard throughout the year in order to meet deadlines. As deadlines neared, the pace of the staff increased, but through their dedication, each section was able to organize and complete their pages. This enabled the staff to publish a yearbook which the student body would enjoy not only in the present, but also in the future. For, after all, a yearbook is forever.

Upper Left: Business Manager Bill Eyster's mind is elsewhere. Upper Right: Beth Quinn and Mike Uhlman of the Sports Section work side by side to complete their deadlines. Middle Left: Business Manager Nathaniel Robbins is concentrating on his layout. Middle Right: Chrissy Umbel and Kim Simpson have a ball with the Sports section. Lower Left: John Taylor of the Ad Section dreams of money all day. Lower right: Pam Quanrud, Susan Travers, Jenny Taylor, and Donelle Blahuta enjoy life's moments as they work on the Student Life and Faculty and Academics section.

PENMAN is Washington-Lee's literary art magazine. Its staff of twelfth grade students meets every day for an hour to read and edit the articles submitted by the student body. It organizes and publishes the magazine, once in the winter and once in the spring.

The magazine contains various types of articles, including fiction, non-fiction, poetry, critiques, and art. To help support the magazine, the staff sells popcorn after school and at football games.

Telling it Like it Is Journalism is a course designed to provide an opportunity for students to become active in an actual newspaper reporting atmosphere. Approximately once a month the staff publishes a newspaper, The Crossed Sabres, in which the articles and editorials are all original works written by the members of the class. Many of these articles are written on a foundation of indepth research. The authors clearly kept the school up-to-date on the latest news throughout the year. Journalism is taught by Mrs. Susan Click. This year's Editor-in-Chief was John Duffy. The editors for the different sections consisted of John Taylor, Jon Swift, Kirk Pond, Doina Chiacu, and Lydia Belateche. Together this group helped to edit and publish the award winning Crossed Sabres.

Tee Shirt Day Fits To A Tee

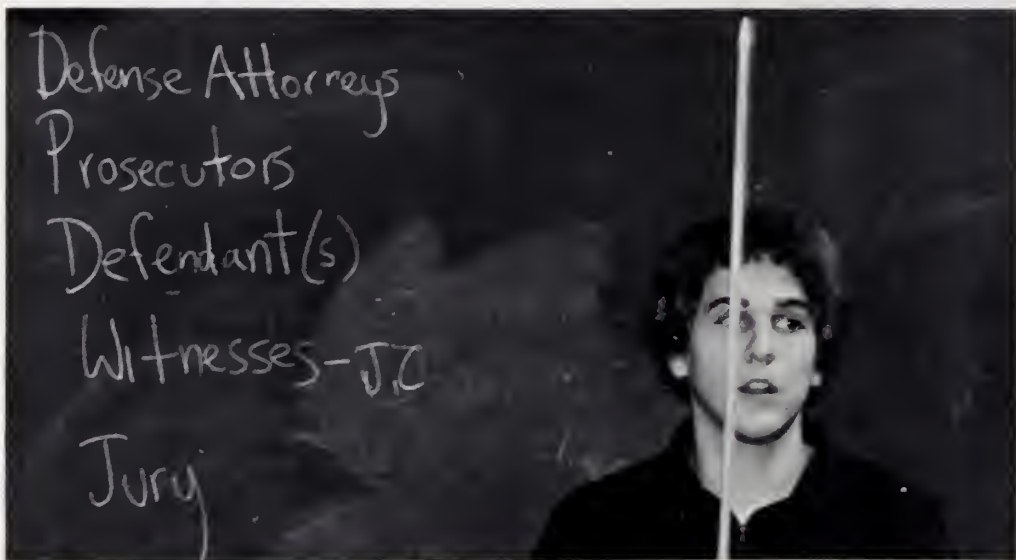

W-L is lucky to have an active Student Council. The Council met every day to work on ways to serve the school and its students, and to provide an intermediary between the students and the administration. The members were busy supporting the school by sponsoring a Talent Show, Tee Shirt day, Pride Week, and Homecoming events. They also helped to coordinate the school calendar, and to work out an acceptable exemption policy.

Law Club

Washington-Lee had many new clubs this year, one of which was the Law Club. The purpose of this club was to provide students with information concerning the law. Interested students met together to learn about their rights and responsibilities as students and as citizens. They hoped to promote good citizenship by becoming aware of laws in their community and their responsibility to uphold them.

Arguing it Out With the Debate Team

The Washington-Lee Debate Team debates the crucial issues of the day. Debating requires skill and stamina so debators must be prepared to argue both sides of the issue. The team participates in the Washington Forensic League Tournaments, as well as in District and Regional competition. Tournaments take place on Saturdays and frequently last eight to ten hours. This year the topic was foreign trade policy.

The Madrigals

The 1979-1980 Washington-Lee Madrigals were Mary Smith, Dan Blackburn, Inga Harwath, Dale Emery, Dorothy Davidson, Carl Tanner, Beth Haley, Robert Sturdivant, Terri Lane, Matt Blanco, Melanie Galloway, Dan McInnis, Debbi Pattison and Phoebe Vernier.

Making the Music

The Washington-Lee Madrigals have been a tradition here for twenty years, and have maintained their high level of excellence. The group consisted of fifteen members with voices ranging from bass to soprano. Their repertoire consisted of sixteenth and seventeenth century works, as well as contemporary pieces.

This year's Madrigals participated in various church programs in the area, and sang for a variety of community and private organizations. One of the highlights of their year was the Madrigals' performance at Woodlawn Plantation in April.

Senior Spirit Club

One of the new and better clubs formed at Washington-Lee this year was the Senior Spirit Club. This club was formed by enthusiastic Seniors who helped promote school morale. Seniors displayed their support throughout football season by wearing hats and ties on special days. They worked hard on the Senior Homecoming float and their efforts paid off with a first place in the contest. They also had special tactics to win the Homecoming pep rally by covering up the Sophomore Section with a huge banner of sheets that told the players to "Beat the Sheet Out Of Stuart!" This newly formed club shows positively that Senior spirit has not died.

Ski Club Makes Mountains Out of Moguls

This season the Ski Club had to contend with one of the worst snow droughts ever in the Eastern states. Undaunted, though, several extended trips and a few shorter ones were made in search of these elusive white flakes. However, most attempts at finding them were futile. No snow but many parties Why would people spend hundreds of dollars, traveling as many miles, just to seek out a cold hill covered with a layer of snow, and then proceed to strap on boards in order to plummet to the bottom of the slope or to the hospital? There must be some reason, for the Ski Club is one of W-L's largest organizations. Many Thanks to Mark Hart (Sponsor) and John Englishman.

No Business With Snow Business

By Martha Raver
Special to The Washington Post

NORTH CONWAY, H.H. — Ski area operators here in the Mount Washington Valley appealed last week for emergency federal loans to carry them through the worst snow drought in 100 years. Large area operators throughout Mass., Vermont, and New Hampshire estimate a loss between $30 million and $40 million in ski business. Auxiliary businesses may count twice that in lost sales.

SPRING

What People Will Do . . . For Money!!!!

We still don't know who to pay back for the "touch-up" paint job!

So that's what holds up Danny Michael's band pants!

Bottom Right: Harry Belch in a brilliant performance as "Peter Rabbit." Bottom Left: Will we ever forget the magazine guy who droned on while a certain part of our anatomy became very uncomfortable?

Bruce Swenson will do anything if the price is right!

Nat Robbins streaks for his extra cash . . .

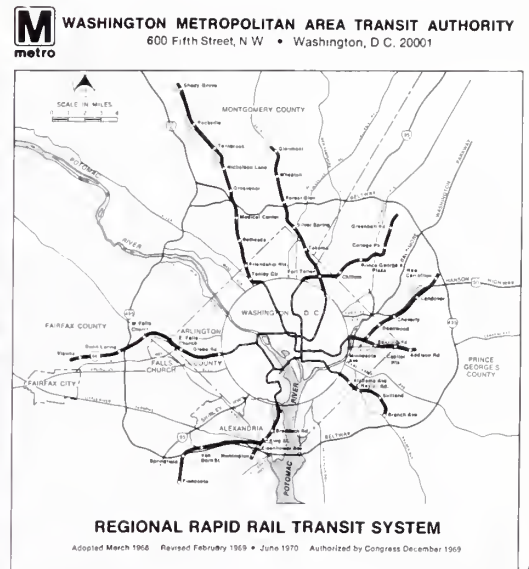

What people will do for that green stuff! Be it for food or paper or entertainment we all need our money! We all go about getting it in different ways, too — poker games at lunch, part time jobs, or those parties we've all attended on Saturday night. Mind you, it's not cheap being a student . . . you know how much a good calculator costs now-a-days? Well, buying one means skipping lunch at Big Mac's for at least a week!

New Faces Around W-L

Washington-Lee saw many changes in the topography of the local landscape this past year. As the I-66 construction progressed, new bridges were opened to the public. Our own parking lot was suddenly void of the lakes which are said to have swallowed-up two VWs, a host of various shoes, and Mr. Ness. Another local addition was the opening of the Virginia Square Metro rail station; in these days of high gasoline prices (paying over $1.00 was not uncommon), Metro was a welcome new face in the Washington-Lee neighborhood.

Shakespeare Decision Is Overturned

. . . And So Is Capt. Arthur

Shakespeare is an author which none of Capt. Arthur's AP English students will forget — not because they studied him, but rather because they were not permitted to study him. As Shakespeare was not "adhering to the (curriculum) rules," as one parent complained, the material was banned from the course by the W-L administration.

The controversy which followed was not only hot but also loud. The leaders of the protest were not only Capt. Arthur's present AP English classes, but many of his former students also joined in. Petitions and a symbolic march were ignored.

DATELINE 1977-1980

- President Carter marches down Pennsylvania Ave. on Inaguration Day.
- Government Officials were no longer allowed to use those expensive limosines.
- Chairman Mao Tse-tung dies at 82.
- "Let's do it." Gary Gilmore's last words.
- 'Son of Sam' David Berkowitz arrested.
- Roots draws one of the largest audiences in T.V. history.

1978

- Test-tube baby Louise Brown born in England.
- Begin and Sadat meet at Camp

David.

- 50% of all women have jobs.
- Double Eagle II makes its transatlantic flight.
- Mid-air collision kills 144.
- 'Annie Hall' is released.
- Pope Paul VI and Pope John Paul I die within 35 days of each other.
- Jonestown mass suicide.

1979

- Idi Amin routed out of Uganda by Tanzanian troops.
- Muhammad Ali retired as heavy weight champion.
- Three Mile Island disaster.
- The Shah left Iran.
- Skylab had a crash landing in the Australian outback.

- Margaret Thatcher became the first women British Prime Minister.

1980

- Winter Olympic Games are held in Lake Placid, New York.
- U.S. and other nations join in boycott of the Moscow summer games.
- American Embassy employees in Iran are taken hostage.
- Eric Heiden wins five olympic gold metals in the winter games.

Concert Information Line

Washington is the center for all kinds of culture; one of the most popular sites is the numerous rock groups which visit our area. Among those who came this past year were: Billy Joel, Jethro Tull, The Who (right), Cars, Eagles, Elton John, Van Halen, ZZ Top, Doobie Brothers, Joe Jackson, Aerosmith, and of course our very own Roadducks (far right).

Pucker Up!!!

Bruce Swenson — Cupid in disguise?

Valentine cards galore!

Who's Kathy Olson's secret admirer?

A smile from Vicky Robinson radiates.

Mr. McSweeney is serenaded by the Madrigals.

Valentines Day '80 brought smiles and laughter, singing serenades and millions of flowers to W-L. The traditional singing valentines were sung to surprised recipients by the Madrigals. A carnation was as easy to give as giving the junior class a dollar bill. Lollypops topped the day off, and if you didn't get a valentine there were too many smiles around to be very unhappy about it!

With W-L's opening, a new breed of students were brought through the doors. These students were the Freshman Class, who were the first and only class in Arlington to Ever attend both a junior high and an intermediate school. This brought about many misunderstandings in what, how, and why to do things. The Class of '83 did benefit from going to two schools, for they had a powerful force of spirit throughout the year at W-L.

The Frosh Class also brought about a new breed of skilled athletes. All the Frosh teams did quite well and showed outstanding potential. Opposite Page: Sandra Orndorff seems to be one of the misunderstanders, while Suzanne McGolerick has a look of understanding. Top: Susan Draghi, John Hsu, and Chuck Davis seem to be lost, too. Bottom: While James Donnelly has himself totally absorbed in a book.

The Freshman Class's superior float for Homecoming '79.

"Same to you," says Howard Watson.

Beth Kidd and Helen Mobley are two studious Freshmen.

David Sanstorm, John Rust, Mike Compton, and Steve Warner show mixed reactions.

"Nobody Bothers ME!" is Darius Thompson's new title.

Daniel Kailey and John Lambeth show extreme concentration, a rare thing.

What a pose by Adrean Bell!

Chuck Anderson shows a new concept — concentration.

Andrea Garlich, Philip Galagher and Peter Guldseth seem very interested!

Look at those eyes that Charlie Hayworth has!

Election assembly is the bash of bashes, for all.

Many Thanks to

Take two aspirin, go home, and we'll see you, later . . .

When in time of pain, sickness and when there are tests that have not been studied for, students take advantage of the availability of the nurses' aid in the clinic. They send us home when we feel down and pick up our spirits to make us feel better. Top, Far Right: D. Cefola, Right: E.J. Taylor.

The Secretaries, Keep on typin' . . .

The high-spirited and amusing secretarial staff is much needed in W-L, considering the large amount of paperwork involved in keeping this school going. The staff is well-chosen and their individual attitudes are right for working in a high school.

The Support Staff

Front: Viera Norma, Olga Crites, Elleen Thompson. Back: Tom Gillis, Willie Payne, Hector Bacallad, John Coppage.

Scrub, Scrub, Rub, Rub . . .

To keep W-L school clean, a good custodial staff is needed. For that job, we have the best. They work hard, around the clock, cleaning individual rooms, the library and the commons. They give us heat in the winter and air-conditioning in the summer, plus, lighting in the classrooms. They upgrade the grounds and touchup old spots in the school. Without the custodians, this school would be lost.

Debbie McCormack, Hattie McCormack, Beatrice Miller, Stella Laski, Evadna Snider, Katrine Calandra, Louis Marcey, Irene Fawcett.

The Cafeteria: food, food, and more food!

Although the complaints are loud, most students eat the school lunches everyday. In order to keep these meals coming, the cafeteria staff is ready and able. They ignore the complaints about their food, put up with lots of hassels, and keep supplying the student body with more tasty delicacies.

Shape Up Or Ship Out

CONGRATULATIONS W-L WRESTLERS!

Congratulations to the 1979-1980 Junior Varsity and Varsity Wrestling teams. With an undefeated 12-0 record, the Generals won the Great Falls District title. The Generals are coached by Mr. Guy Cavallo, who is considered to be one of the best coaches in the area. This is the first time that W-L has been undefeated in 22 years.

W-L 1980

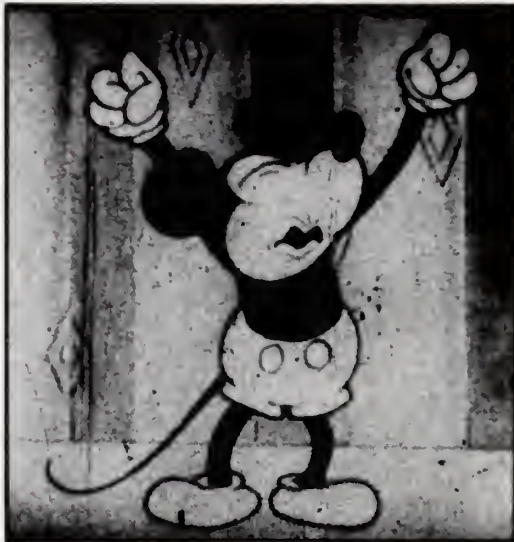

Some of us needed to grow up . . .

Some of us never learned our manners . . .

While others pretended to be.

Sometimes we felt like screaming . . . and some of us did.

Some of us used

but at least we shared.

1979-1980 In Review

Some of us worked for the Senior Class while others worked for their own benefit.

our muscles to succeed while some used their heads.

And then there were Betsy Blaylock's overalls . . .

...AND FINALLY

Our three years at Washington-Lee have been eventful, not only in the school environment, but in the world at large: As we entered W-L, so did Dr. Sharbaugh; with him came an end to much of the vandalism that beset our school, through "locker visitation" rules and indictments of "gross insubordination" on the suspension slips. There was the Christmas Controversy and the continuous rearranging of the sports districts. We missed being exempt from finals as juniors by one year. Other things were: I-66, Gas lines, No-Nuks, Three Mile Island, the visit of the Pope, the 1980 Summer Olympic boycott, the Iranian hostage crisis, Skylab, Disco, New Wave rock, New Relations with China, "health" foods, the "prep" look, The Rocky Horror Picture Show, Gasohol, Affirmative Action, test tube babies, Roller skating . . . and many more too numerous to cite . . .

We are the class of 1980 . . .

Even though the sun may set on the rest of the world,
We will shine on.
